

Edward Brunet, ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION: THE ADVOCATE'S PERSPECTIVE
LexisNexis Publishers (Fourth Edition) 2011, 888 pages
(co-authored with Charles Craver and Ellen Deason)

This book is designed for use in a one-semester course that focuses on alternative dispute resolution. The main highlights of this new edition include: Expanded treatment of mediation confidentiality, expanded treatment of the enforcement of agreements to mediate; new materials and cases on court-annexed mediation; and inclusion of new arbitration materials including cases dealing with unconscionability and class action arbitration. As with prior editions, this text uses the case method.
