

Lewis & Clark Law School Access Map

About Student Support Services:

Lewis & Clark is committed to serving the needs of its students with disabilities. The College provides a full-time Coordinator of Student Support Services in the Office of Academic and Student Support Services, who is available to ensure that disabled students received all of the benefits of a comprehensive selection of services. The office also provides advising and advocacy for students with disabilities. Services, advising, and accommodations, however, are always the result of an active partnership between the student with disabilities and members of the support services staff. Student Support Services is located in Albany room 206.
