

To earn an MSL in Environmental, Natural Resources, and Energy Law from Lewis & Clark Law School, students must complete a total of 26 credit hours of coursework. Students can choose from the wide variety of courses listed below.

Lewis & Clark Law School has one of the top environmental law programs in the United States, making this online MSL program a great option for those who have a bachelor's degree and are interested in learning about environmental law and policy, but who do not wish to practice law or obtain a law degree.

A partial list of courses offered include:

- Administrative Law
- Environmental Law
- Emerging Topics in Environmental, Natural Resources, and Energy Law
- Introduction to US Environmental Law and Legal Studies
- Environmental Justice
- Natural Resources Law & Science
- Climate Change: U.S. Law & Policy
- International Environmental Law
- Water Law
- Individual research paper on environmental topic of student's choice

Please note these courses are not listed in the order that they need to be taken. A more in-depth course structure, and course descriptions are available upon request.*

Ranked #1 in Environmental Law by U.S. News and World Report