What the world needs most is what we do best. And what we do next depends on you!

Improving Criminal Justice

Lewis & Clark Law School is known both for its advocacy on behalf of crime victims and, more recently, its work on behalf of those who are incarcerated, with a curriculum that goes beyond the usual teaching of prosecution and defense, addressing specialized topics such as cybercrime, environmental crimes, terrorism and national security, and crimes against animals.

Students join with alumni who are working at the forefront of criminal justice issues, making change through litigation, research and data collection, amicus briefs, representation, legislation, and more.

YOUR IMPACT

Your campaign gift to the criminal law program will:

Encourage meaningful change to our entrenched multi-faceted criminal justice system. Your gift inspires leadership, innovation, and compassion, as well as an extensive understanding of the current laws and policies.

Demonstrate commitment to equity. A gift in support of the people or programs of the criminal law education at Lewis & Clark Law School is a testament to your own passion for the critical importance of improving our criminal justice system and your commitment to a more just system for the future.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

Clinics Our clinics provide a unique combination of hands-on practical training opportunities in criminal law that complement the academic experience with real-world experience. You can make a direct gift of any amount to support:

Criminal Justice Reform Clinic (CJRC)
Crime Victims Litigation Clinic (CVLC)
