 Lewis & Clark Law School

EDUCATION WITH INTENTION

At Lewis & Clark, you will be challenged daily to solve real-world legal problems. You will think like a lawyer from the start, taking foundational knowledge of the law and applying that knowledge to practical settings in the classroom. You'll continue to develop these skills through experiential learning both inside and outside the classroom with moot courts, clinics, and one of the largest externship programs in the nation.

With flexible scheduling and support, you'll learn these skills on your schedule. After your first year, you can move between our full- and part-time programs as you choose. That flexibility, along with the mentoring students receive from faculty, staff, alumni, and fellow students, creates a learning environment that ensures success.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING CREDITS REQUIRED

"Lewis & Clark graduates have a strong work ethic and commitment to high quality legal work. That, along with their strong legal research and writing skill, make them valuable employees and lawyers."
—Sandra Gustitus JD '14 (she/her)

“Mock Trial was where everything I learned in class met the real world. It wasn’t just about reciting laws; it was strategy, quick thinking, and solid argumentation—the whole legal shebang. This experience was foundational in preparing me for the twists and turns of actual legal practice.”

—Carter Jane Pond JD '25 (she/her)

“The availability of a highly regarded evening program at Lewis & Clark made it feasible to seriously consider pursuing a law degree. The part-time program allows me the flexibility I need to pursue my degree while working full time.”

—Dave Ramsey JD '26 (he/him)

“THE WHOLE LEGAL SHEBANG”

At Lewis & Clark, experiential learning begins on day one, and continues through your last semester. In your first year, you’ll begin to build your professional identity and lawyering skills. You will continue to grow your practice readiness through our Advocacy Center, multiple clinics, hundreds of externship opportunities, moot court, and mock trial teams. Additionally, you may pursue enriching study abroad opportunities, or degree combinations such as a JD/MBA dual degree, a joint JD/LLM in Environmental Law, or an LLM in Animal Law.
