PORTLAND IS OUR CITY

Portland is different, and that's why we love it. Known for its forested parks, food cart pods, pickle-themed sporting events, bike routes, microbreweries, coffeehouses, and lively art and music scene, you'll never run out of things to do. There's a Portland neighborhood for every style, from funky and laid-back to polished and professional.

The Portland legal scene is just as varied, with a wide range of choices for externships and jobs and a network of nearly 3,000 alumni in the area. And when you need to get away from the rigors of law school? Step out of the classroom and into Tryon Creek State Park, the law school's backyard. Or head to the beach, the mountains, or the high desert—you're only an hour or two away!

“I have always dreamed of living in the Pacific Northwest. After researching the top environmental law schools, I was ecstatic to learn that the top program was here in Portland, Oregon. After viewing the beautiful campus, along with the extensive environmental curriculum and impressive staff and alumni, choosing Lewis & Clark was one of the easiest and best decisions of my life.”
